

DREW & MERSEREAU, P.C.
CONFIDENTIAL ESTATE PLANNING QUESTIONNAIRE

Please attempt to complete all applicable questions and bring in all requested documents for the first meeting, but do not be concerned if you are unable to complete all of the questions or all of the requested documents are not readily available.

You should bring the following documents with you for the initial estate planning consultation:

1. Existing estate planning documents such as Wills, Trusts and Powers of Attorney.
2. Information provided by employer(s), including copies of retirement plans and group life insurance policies.
3. Deeds to real estate owned by either husband or wife.
4. Documents indicating legal title to investments.
5. Copies of any Trust Agreements under which either spouse is a beneficiary.
6. Any gift tax returns.
7. Property settlement agreements, divorce decrees, separation agreements from prior marriages.
8. Premarital and Marital Agreements.

With respect to many of these documents, a brief review will be sufficient to obtain the required information. Therefore, it will not be necessary for you to make copies of these documents.
